MRS. STEWART'S BIG DEBTS

POOR IN SPITE OF HER MILLIONS.

MB. HILTON'S BOOKKEEPING REVIEWED BY AN EXPERT ACCOUNTANT - RENTS REDUCED GREATLY ON VARIOUS BUILDINGS BE-LONGING TO THE ESTATE - THE

COUNSEL EAGERLY WATCHING THE CONTEST.

If the evidence given under oath in the Stew art will case yesterday be accepted as the truth in its entirety, and without qualification, sympathetic persons will express their gratitude that Mrs. Stewart died when she did. It looked very much, to judge from the formidable array of figures which the expert, John Charles Mercer, placed before Surrogate Ransom in evidence, as if, in about another year, Mrs. Stewart, in spite of the enormous wealth and investments left her by her husband, would have been compelled to look for her very existence to the charity of ex-Judge Hilton. As it was, Mrs. Stewart, after her husband's death, according to the evidence, ran into debt deeper and deeper with the execu tor of the big estate.

At half-past 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Surrogate's Court looked quiet, considering the aportance of the case, in which the taking of testimony was about to continue. Elihu Root was the first of ex-Judge Hilton's distinguished counsel to arrive, but Mr. Hilton himself was not far behind him. Ex-Surrogate Rollins and ex-Attorney-General Russell soon after took their seats at the table for the counsel of defence, while Mr. Choate, Mr. Devine and Mr. Cleveland lent dignity to the table of the complainant. Les lie W. Russell and Mr. Choate engaged in conversation at once, which, to judge from the frequent hilarity of the two, seemed to be confined to semething of less importance than the case in which these two prominent lawyers were engreed. Mr. Rollins was more serious, and, as usual, ex-Judge Hilton sat with him, apparently to gain an inspiration of defensive strength from Mr. Rollins's earnestness. Ex-Judge Gilbert, representing the Cathedral of the Incarnation, as usual, with contracted brows, and otherwise a scowl on his face, sat at the table of the defence, nearest the Surrogate, and was the most attentive listener to the testimony. RESUMING THE TESTIMONY.

John Charles Mercer, the expert accountant, we again called by the complainants, and proceeded with his analysis of the "C. M. S." books, which are the accounts of Mrs. Stewart. The witness said that it was impossible for him, from these books, to ascertain whether all transactions in which Mrs. Stewart had been interested were there recorded. To all questions and answers of this kind the defence objected, on the ground that it was not evidence to say what the books did not show. Mr. Mercer explained that the taxes and insurance on hotel property did not appear on the "C. M. S." books.

The witness said that Mr. Anstey had informed him that the insurance on the Metropolitan Hotel was about $150,000. The taxes on the same hotel for the ten years from 1876 to 1886, were $245,362 50. Those on the Park Avenue Hotel amounted to $126,402 50. The valuation of the latter property until 1879 was $650,000. In 1881 it was reduced to $500,000, and remained property specified in the "C. M. S." books. The total credits during this period were, therefore: $308,444 45; the deficits, $145,884, and the balance credits $162.560 45.

The Tenth-st. store, in the same way, the witness testified, at the time of Mr. Stewart's death, paid a rental of $250,000. From July 1, 1876, until December 31, 1877, the rate was $236,000 per annum. Then it was reduced to $136,000. For the term ending December 31, 1878, it seemed day. to be $141,600; in 1879 and the first half of 1880, at was $132,000; during the last half of 1880, $150,000; then, until October 30, 1882. $175,000. For November and December, 1882, ere were no credits for rent from this property. PILING UP THE TELLING FIGURES.

After a recess had been taken until 2 o'clock for luncheon, the witness was called upon to add the curious evidence he had already given. Mr. Mercer testified that for the property No. 143 East Eighth-st. credits appeared on the "C. M. S." books on June 30, 1876, rate, $1,000 a year; June 30, 1877, four months at $1,000, and two months at $1,840; for the rest—of the year 1877, rate, $1,840; for 1878, rate, $1,000. Then the credits in the special journal disappeared. The property No. 86 East Ninth-st. paid a rent of $1,200 for the year ending June 30, 1879. That was the only entry.

"Are there any other specified credits for rent on these books?" asked Mr. Cleveland.

"There are no other properties mentioned," was the answer, "except in November, 1872, one entry of credit for the rent of No. 1 West Thirty-fourth-st."

"What do the assessments for the second 143 East Eighth-st. credits appeared on the "C.

of credit for the rent of No. 1 West Thirty-fourthst."

"What do the assessments for taxes show as to the valuation of Mrs. Stewart's real estate?"

"In 1877, 1878, 1879, 1880, 1881 and 1882 the assessment seems to be on a basis of about $500,000: after that, in 1883, 1884, 1885 and 1886, the valuation sank to $200,000."

The questions of the examining counsel, Treadwell Cleveland, now were directed to the purpose of evolving the final results of the expert's exmination of the books, and giving them in a concentrated form.

"What was the debit to Mrs. Stewart's account with Judge Hilton in November, 1877?" asked the lawyer.

"$1,364,4597."

"Did it ever go below one million dollars after that?"

that?³
"It did. On February 29, 1884, the debit was $840,665 11; on May 22, 1884, $930,974 07, and an September 30, 1884, $951,958 93. It then again went above a million, and at no other time was less than that sum after February 28, 1877."
"During those ten years was Mrs. Stewart predited with the sale of stocks and bonds?"
"She was credited with a total of $2,260,985 33, seginning with February 28, 1877."

A SUMMARY OF THE TESTIMONY.

The witness next read a statement summarizing his entire testimony, and that statement was offered in evidence. Mr. Mercer said:

Assuming the value of A. T. Stewart's interest in the business o have been $12,217,002 97. I have computed the interest on that amount from June 30, 1876, until September 30, 1886, on the same rate used by Judge Hilton in his computations. This interest amounts to $11,268,828 97. To this I have added the amount credited to Mrs. Stewart by Judge Hilton, $17,544,859 78, tass $5,001,497 75, which represents the real estate and teas $5,001,497.75, which represents the real estate and stocks which I understand Mrs. Stewart transferred to Mr. Hilton, leaving to be added $12,543,362.03. The Mr. Hilton, leaving to be added $12,643,362 03. The debit of Mr. Hilton's account with Mrs. Stewart is, therefore, $36,274,664 91. I have, on the other hand, credited Mr. Hilton with all payments made by him on her account: I have deducted two loans repaid with interest, and have credited him with the interest on the above $5,001,497 75. This makes the credit side $17,596,291 36. The balance due the estate from Judge Hilton would therefore be $18,687,$73 55.

Mr. Cleveland-What becomes of the property which was taken by Judge Hilton!

Mr. Root-I object. The expert does not know any.

thing about that.

Mr. Cleveland-On the theory of that statement, I mean, of course.

The witness—Those properties revert to her estate, they include Pacific Mail, Chemical Bank, Merchants Bank, Metropolitun Bank, Western Financial Corporation and Standard Insurance stock. United States bonds, the Saratoga property, the Lafayette place property, the Phirty-fourth-st. stables and the Stewart Building.

The witness finally read another statement sim-flar to the one mentioned, but computed on the basis that the value of the Stewart interest in the fusiness was only $8,170,192.70 after the profits and loss account had been applied. This made Judge Hilton's debit $28,493,094.65; his credit, $17,596,291.36, and the balance due, $10,896,-$03.29. "If they will pay that," said Mr. Choate, "we will settle."

SCORTED TO CALVARY CEMETERY BY HIS COM-RADES - GENEROUS AID FOR HIS BEREAVED FAMILY.

The flag on the police station in East Thirty-fifth-st was at half mast yesterday morning when Captain Ryan and his entire squad of policemen assembled there to attend the funeral of their murdered com-rade, Patrolman James Brennan. Inspector Williams had the posts in the precinct covered by men from other precincts during the morning tour. At 9:30 a.m. Captain Ryan and his squad marched to the house, No. 245 East Thirty-ninth-st., where the body of Brennan had been placed in a coffin, surrounded by floral offerings. On the face of the dead police man were plainly visible the builet wounds inflicted by the murderer, Carlton. Police Superintenden Murray and Inspectors Steers and Conlin arrived a the house before the coffin was closed. As the body was carried to a hearse in front of the house the police ranks were opened, and then the policemen marche in advance of the hearse to St. Gabriel's Church, in East Thirty-seventh-st. While the services in the church were in progress the dead policeman's infant boy gazed carnestly at the coffin and cried, "Dada" in a way that brought tears to many eyes. In nothing else should we exercise greater CAUTION than in the purchase of remedies for the relief of bodily suffering. Owing to the great popularity of BENSON'S PLASTER as a remedy for coughs, colds, chest pains, rheumatism, sciatics, backache, and other aches and pains, many "counterfeits" and "imitations" of it are offered. Avoid these by asking for BENSON'S, and refusing all other plasters.

ERHARDT FOR MAYOR. The New-York TIMES of yesterday, although opposing the Hon, Joel B. Erhardt for Mayor, published two columns of names of Republicans and Independent Republicans who indorse his candidacy in the following card, The names of a few of the thousands who signed this strong indorsement are given below.

THE CALL.

The undersigned, recognizing the truth of Mayor Hewitt's declaration that Joel B. Erhardt would make as good a Mayor as himself, and assured that the Harrison vote of this city, upward of 100,000 strong, affords a better nucleus to beat Tammany Hall than the disorganized County Democracy, heartily indorse Mr. Erhardt's nomination, and commend him to their fellow-citizens, without distinction of party, as the strongest and most available candidate.

DURING THE CURRENT WEEK!

THE TRIBUNE

The daily sale of THE TRIBUNE grows continually; and it exceeds even the remarkable sale of the Blaine campaign.

Owing to the large number of new buyers and readers, scarcely a day passes without a number of customers finding the newsdealers and newsboys on the trains "all sold out." Every Republican should make sure of his daily copy of THE TRIBUNE during this, the last week of the campaign. With its extensive facilities for collecting the news and investigating the truth of every campaign slander, THE TRIBUNE is a safeguard to the party, and should be in the hands of every Republican in these three cities and in the three neighboring States. The only sure way is to have the newsdealer nearest you serve the paper to you regularly. THE TRIBUNE
